KEYNOTE SPEAKER RIDER

Lauren brings the following equipment with her to every event:

- MacBook Pro with a range of USB, HTMI and Projector connections
- Countryman Headset with a range of connecting leads for battery packs (battery pack not included, event AV to provide this equipment)
- Logitech presentation remote with timer & laser and USB connection
- Alternative Rode lapel mic

Due to the frenetic performance of her presentation, ADHD and use of props, will not be able to use a hand held microphone or stand still behind a lectern.

Lauren's interactive presentation requires control over the slides, music and audio included in her keynote so her Mac needs to be hooked up to the audio/video system at the AV desk or it can be placed on stage or at the front of the room.

To enhance the audience experience a confidence monitor should be provided for Lauren to see and track her keynote timing and to skip slides or personalise the keynote to the audience reactions.

Because of copyright restrictions and requirements regarding aspects of the unique keynote Lauren presents, we are not permitted to send a complete audio/visual package in advance, nor are we allowed put the keynote audio/visuals onto a memory stick for you to copy onto a master computer at the event.

A timekeeper or clock is required to be within sight of the stage.

A small side table with a bottle of still water, not pitchers/glasses, and space for props is required.

If you require them, A4 handouts for audience members for each of Laurens Keynotes are available from the RESOURCES page on www.yourbrandtruenorth.com and should be placed on seats/tables before the keynote commences.

Please announce Lauren Clemett with her short bio (also in RESOURCES or on her book cover) before she takes the stage.

Lauren will play an introductory sound clip as she arrives on stage which is embedded into her presentation slides. If the cool AV team can play any P!nk song before or after her presentation as the room is filling/dispersing Lauren will reward them with candy bars.

A table at the back or outside the auditorium will be required if Lauren is signing/selling books.

For speaker gifting Lauren doesn't drink wine, however has been known to inhale chocolate.
